

Brazilian MoH updated guidelines	CPGU 1	CPGU 2
1. The updated version can be distinguished from the previous version of the clinical guideline.	*	*
2. The rationale for updating the clinical guideline is reported	*	*
3. Changes in the scope and purpose between the updated and previous version are described and justified.	No	No
4. The sections reviewed in the updating process are described.	No	No
5. Recommendations are clearly presented and labelled as new, modified, or not changed. Deleted recommendations are clearly noted.	No	No
6. Changes in recommendations are reported and justified.	No	Yes
7. The panel participants in the updated version are described.	Yes	Yes
8. Disclosures of interests of the group responsible for the updated version are recorded	No	No
9. The role of the funding body for the updated version is identified and described.	No	No
10. The methods used for searching and identifying new evidence in the updating process are described.	Yes	Yes
11. The methods used for evidence selection in the updating process are described	No	No
12. The methods used to assess the quality of the included evidence in the updating process are described.	No	No
13. The methods used for the evidence synthesis in the updating process are described.	No	No
14. The methods used for externally reviewing the updated version are described	Yes	Yes
15. The methods and plan for implementing the changes of the updated version in practice are described.	No	No
16. The plan and methods for updating the new version in the future are reported.	No	No